Product Description

Retinoic Acid CAS 302-79-4 apple skin extract

Description

Tretinoin, also known as retinoic acid, is a vitamin A derivative and a member of the retinoid family. It is highly valued for its potent skin-beneficial characteristics and is commonly used in dermatology and skincare.

When it comes to cosmetic formulations, the anti-aging advantages of Retinoic Acid are well-known. It promotes collagen synthesis, stimulates skin cell turnover, and aids in the healing of damaged skin. This results in improved skin texture, less wrinkles, and more even skin tone.

Retinoic Acid is also beneficial for acne-prone skin because it reduces excess oil production and treats acne.

Application

Retinoic Acid is commonly used in over-the-counter and prescription skincare formulations to improve skin firmness, reduce the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles, and combat the signs of aging.

Acne Treatments: The chemical is used to acne treatments such as lotions and gels to clear pores, reduce acne outbreaks, and improve overall skin condition.

Dermatological Products: Retinoic Acid is used in a variety of dermatological products used to treat skin conditions such as psoriasis, melasma, and hyperpigmentation.
