Product Description

DL-A-Tocopherol CAS 10191-41-0

Description

A powerful fat-soluble antioxidant, DL-A-tocopherol, commonly referred to as DL-alpha-tocopherol, is a synthetic version of vitamin E. Vitamin E is essential for keeping skin healthy and shielding cells from oxidative harm.

Because of its antioxidant qualities, DL-A-Tocopherol is frequently utilized in cosmetic compositions to shield the skin from environmental stresses and free radicals. It helps preserve the flexibility of the skin, lessen aging symptoms, and enhance general skin health.

DL-A-Tocopherol also possesses moisturizing qualities, which add to its capacity to calm and nourish the skin.

Application

Anti-Aging Skincare: To prevent premature aging of the skin, enhance the texture of the skin, and lessen the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles, DL-A-Tocopherol is frequently used in anti-aging creams, serums, and lotions.

Moisturizing Formulations: The ingredient is added to hydrating and moisturizers to help the skin retain and absorb moisture, which results in a more smooth and youthful-looking complexion.

Sun Care Products: To offer antioxidant protection and aid in the skin's recovery from sun exposure, DL-A-Tocopherol is a component of sunscreens and after-sun care products.
