Product Description

Dipotassium Glycyrrhizinate CAS 68797-35-3

Description

A dipotassium A natural substance called glycyrrhizinate is taken from the roots of licorice (Glycyrrhiza glabra). It is well renowned for having exceptional skin-soothing and anti-inflammatory qualities.

Dipotassium glycyrrhizinate is frequently used in cosmetic formulations to soothe and reduce skin irritation, redness, and itching. It benefits those with reactive and sensitive skin types by enhancing the skin's barrier function.

This substance is helpful in treating hyperpigmentation and promoting a more even skin tone because it also has skin-lightening qualities.

Application

Dipotassium glycyrrhizinate, with the CAS number 68797-35-3, is a compound derived from licorice root extract. It is commonly used in skincare and cosmetic products for its soothing and anti-inflammatory properties. Here are its main usages:

Skincare products: Dipotassium glycyrrhizinate is often included in skincare formulations due to its anti-inflammatory and soothing effects on the skin. It can help calm and reduce skin irritation, redness, and itching. It is commonly used in products for sensitive or reactive skin, as well as in formulations targeting conditions like eczema, dermatitis, and rosacea.

Oral care products: Dipotassium glycyrrhizinate can also be found in oral care products, such as toothpaste and mouthwash. It is included for its potential anti-inflammatory and antimicrobial properties, which can help soothe oral tissues and reduce inflammation in the mouth.

Hair care products: Some hair care products may contain dipotassium glycyrrhizinate for its potential benefits to the scalp and hair. It is believed to have properties that can help soothe the scalp, reduce itching, and promote healthier hair growth. However, the specific efficacy and benefits for hair care may vary, and further research is needed in this area.

It's important to note that if you have any specific skin concerns or conditions, it is advisable to consult with a dermatologist or healthcare professional before using products containing dipotassium glycyrrhizinate. They can provide personalized advice and guidance based on your individual needs and help determine whether it is suitable for your skincare routine.
